BEAVERTON CITY LIBRARY HOSTS FAMILY RESOURCE FAIR

BEAVERTON, Ore. – Mark your calendar for Beaverton City Library's Family Resource Fair on Saturday, October 15, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the main library, 12375 SW Fifth St. Coordinated by Beaverton City Library's Youth Services Division, the Family Resource Fair is a free, community event for families with children, infants through elementary school.

The Family Resource Fair features engaging displays, activities for children and information for adults from over 30 local nonprofit organizations. Exhibits highlight a wide range of topics including children's healthcare, educational support for kids of all abilities, nutritional services, fine arts, mentoring and more. Families are encouraged to visit tables and talk with representatives about programs and services.

Parents and caregivers can take advantage of a kid-friendly format and learn about low-cost/no-cost programs. Kids play while learning about everything from healthy eating to local recreation activities to bicycle safety.

Local businesses have donated prizes for a raffle drawing. In addition, children ages three to five years old, not already tested in other programs, can receive free vision screenings. Early screenings are critical so that children receive eye exam referrals before they begin formal reading instruction.

For more information and a complete list of participating organizations, visit www.BeavertonLibrary.org/FRF or call 503-350-3600.
