The new Cedar Hills McMenamins Pub honors the old airport and Beaverton history.

THE TIMES: MANDY FEDER-SAWYER - The new McMenamins Cedar Hills Pub features 40 beers and ciders on tap.

Hundreds of patrons got a sneak-peek at the new McMenamins in Cedar Hills on Tuesday, Nov. 28.

McMenamins Beaverton pub was recently rebuilt across the street from its last location and upgraded with more

The updated location features 40 handcrafted ales and ciders on tap and as a nod to the property's history as an airstrip — once known as Bernard Airport in the late 1920s — McMenamins installed a large propeller that once belonged to pioneering Portland pilot Tex Rankin above a newly designed round-shaped bar.

The entire dining area also has been expanded, including an indoor/outdoor fireplace to cozy up to in the winter, meeting and event spaces and an extended patio with fire pits.

Among the attendees at the event were members of the construction team, developers, McMenamins artists, McMenamins "Passport Cosmic Tripsters" and representatives from local businesses. All proceeds from the sales were donated to long-time neighbor — the Virginia Garcia Memorial Foundation.

Serena Cruz, executive director of the Virginia Garcia Memorial Foundation, said, "I think this is such an exciting soft-opening. I'm thrilled that McMenamins supports our efforts. We've been neighbors for years and being here to celebrate also means our opening isn't far away."

Virginia Garcia provides high-quality, comprehensive and culturally appropriate primary health care to the communities of Washington and Yamhill counties. The new center is under construction next to McMenamins and will be able to serve 18,000 patients every year with medical, dental, mental health, pharmacy and wellness programs all under one roof.

THE TIMES: MANDY FEDER-SAWYER - Historical art and photos fill the new McMenamins Pub in Cedar Hills.

According to McMenamins public relations contact, Rachel Gehr, the old Cedar Hills pub had about 40 employees and the new one has approximately 65.

"We have two bars and a lot more space than the previous building, so many new employees were needed," Gehr said.

The new location will keep the same hours as the previous pub according to its assistant manager Robert
